

Insa will take over Transamine's lead and zinc book

October 29, 2009

Alvaro Insa will take over Transamine Trading's lead and zinc book following Cem Elmastas' decision to leave the trading house.

Insa has been the director of Transamine's Johannesburg office for the past two years with responsibility for South Africa.

Prior to this, Insa spent ten years with the commercial department of one of Europe's major zinc smelters.

Elmastas, a partner of the company, will leave by the end of the year.
